SUGGESTS A REMEDY.

Correspondent Makes Simple Rules for School Children.

Editor Barre Times: Dear Sir: I have read with interest one of your articles on "The Eye and Ear Test in Vermont Schools," and give this, as my contribution, for one remedy for defect of eyesight.

Let parents and teachers encourage their children to sit erect in their seats, and raise their work to an angle of 45 degrees, before, instead of under their eyes, on the slightly-sloping school desk. This will give freedom from round shoulders, relieve tired eyes and give the pupils the support of their chair backs.

The Egg Question.

The problem of finding a cheap poultry food that will increase egg production during the winter, when eggs are high, has been solved by those farmers who purchase Green Cut Bone and Meat for their poultry. C. S. Page of Hyde Park, Vt., grinds many thousands of pounds annually of this article and is this year selling it for $3.50 per barrel of 200 pounds, freight prepaid to buyer's railroad station. There is now no necessity for going without this staple poultry food. If you cannot use a barrel yourself, get some of your neighbors to join in with you. You will find it valuable as an egg-producer.

In confirmation of the report that sailing in Mississippi bay has already been begun on the Canadian side, a St. Albans man says that he was in East Alburg Monday night on business and that he saw five barrels of fresh pike which he was informed were brought from Canada, past United States customs officers and were delivered to the express company for shipment to market. These fish were taken by seines just north of East Alburg in Canadian waters. Residents of East Alburg say that regardless of whether or not the Canadian government was to grant licenses for setting this year, these pike were taken before the Canadian law permitted them to be seized.

MANN INDICTED FOR PERJURY

Grand Jury Acts in Case of "Town Topics" Editor

SURPRISE FOR LAWYERS

The District Attorney Frank Surpre Upon Counsel of Col. Mann—Grand Jury Handed Down Indictment for Perjury.

New York, March 13.—The Grand Jury has filed an indictment for perjury against Col. W. D. Mann, proprietor of Town Topics.

The charge is the same as that recently brought by Robert J. Collier, of Collier's Weekly, growing out of Col. Mann's testimony in regard to the "O. K. W. D. M." on the Reginald Ward letter at the Haggard trial. Col. Mann denied on the witness stand that he had O. K'd the Ward letter.

Until a week ago the hearing on the original perjury charge had been going on before Justice McAvoy, of Special Sessions, sitting as a magistrate in the special Grand Jury room in the Criminal Courts building.

The hearing had continued for about three weeks, when it was adjourned until yesterday. The evidence was all in and a decision in the case by Justice McAvoy was expected yesterday, but the hearing was again put over until Wednesday.

After the indictment was filed with Judge O'Sullivan in Part I. of General Sessions yesterday, Col. Mann's counsel, Martin W. Littleton, was notified and requested to produce the defendant in court yesterday afternoon to plead to the indictment.

The news of the indictment took Mr. Littleton by surprise and he was quite incensed over what he called the premature action of the District Attorney in presenting the case to the Grand Jury before Justice McAvoy had handed down his decision at the hearing.

Mr. Littleton said he was reasonably sure that Justice McAvoy would have dismissed the complaint on the evidence which had been offered by the District Attorney's office.

Assistant District Attorney Hart had charge of the prosecution of the case for Mr. Collier, the complainant, and went before the Grand Jury with his evidence last week.

Mann was arraigned before Judge O'Sullivan on the indictment. Pleading was postponed until March 20, when time Mann was to be arraigned. Mann's daughter, Mrs. Wray, Mann's daughter.

An official order was received at Fort Ethan Allen yesterday, promoting Lieut. Col. Rodgers at present commanding the garrison, to the full rank of Colonel and removing him from the 15th Cavalry and ordering him to proceed to Fort Meade, S. D., and take command of the 6th Cavalry.

Not on the Classified.

"We used to have a clerk in the general freight office who would have been a wonder had he managed to curb his uncontrollable inclination to look upon the beer when it was sharp," remarked a traffic official of the Southern Pacific. "When you least suspected it he would come into the office as full of liquor as an untapped barrel, and he found it necessary at times to keep his chin elevated to prevent it from spilling."

"One afternoon he was sitting at his desk gazing blankly at a specimen of a letter," said the official. "If anything engaging your attention at the present moment," asked General Freight Agent G. W. Luce.

"I was just ruminating on the strange mutability of human events," he answered, in a dazed sort of way.

"Well, get busy now," said Luce, and took up the classification of South holes and wagon tracks in mixed car loads.

"Right away," responded the clerk, proceeding to get active with the Western classification.

"Say, what was that commodity you wanted me to look up?" he asked Luce half an hour later.

"Post holes and wagon tracks," said Luce.

"Oh, I thought I must have misunderstood you."

"And he resumed his ruminations into the mysteries of the Western classification. It was not until he had been working at the matter for two hours that he began to acquire a hazy notion that post holes and wagon tracks were not articles of merchandise. He didn't last long after that."—San Francisco Chronicle.

All Quiet in Philadelphia.

"Whatever Philadelphia reform has done for the city in general, it has hit hard the night trade of many restaurants," is a very common complaint heard in every section of the city. "There was a time," said one restaurant keeper, "when our night trade, which is a big item in figuring profits, was a veritable harvest. That was in the days when Philadelphia was wide open. Then the streets were lively long past 10 p. m. with hungry crowds. Since the lid went on it's early to bed and the effect of the theatre crowds emptying into deserted streets is almost startling. There's nothing doing for us."—Philadelphia Record.

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPLOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oldman says: "In your prescription known as 'Peploids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valuable discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Stomach Disorders, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Peploids,' in hundreds of cases with a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Peploids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of noxious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Peploids.' I consider 'Peploids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered for the treatment of all Stomach Disorders." Peploids cure Dyspepsia, and all Stomach Disorders, in a new way, by repairing the worn-out lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. ## NONPARTISAN PLAN.

RECOMMENDED BY THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

How to Secure the Referendum System—Question the Candidates of All Parties and Vote Only For Those Who Pledge Favorably.

For the past ten years organized labor has made no headway with national legislation, and the difficulty lies in the fact that the continued supremacy of one party has led the political managers to no longer fear the labor vote. The plan, therefore, of begging arrogant party managers for a mess of pottage is shown to be unsuccessful. To obtain an anti-injunction law, the eight hour labor day, the curbing of trusts so that the increased cost of living may be reduced and thus virtually advance wages and other legislation that organized labor stands for a new programme is necessary. This new programme has been gradually developed by the American Federation of Labor. It is the systematic questioning of political candidates as to the establishment of the people's sovereignty through a right to a direct vote on public questions—the initiative and referendum. The programme is described in the report of the executive council to the last annual convention of the American Federation of Labor held at Pittsburgh last November. The report is signed by all the members of the executive council and is published in the proceedings of the convention, page 79, where it is said:

"The nonpartisan movement for the establishment of the people's sovereignty through the right to a direct vote on public questions is making progress. During the past year this reform, the people's right to a direct vote system, has become assured in one form or another in Texas, Montana, Nevada and Delaware, with success also attained in Missouri, Colorado, Illinois, Massachusetts and Maine and with growing strength in the remaining states."

"Nationally, too, our programme for more power in the people is advancing steadily. Twelve of the sixteen congressmen of Missouri are pledged to the three measures on which they were questioned last year by organized labor—namely, the national anti-injunction bill, the national eight hour bill and the advisory initiative and advisory referendum. Equally good results could doubtless have been attained in most of the other states had there been an equally zealous questioning of candidates. Experience demonstrates more and more the strength of the nonpartisan questioning of candidates. The system was strengthened by our last convention through resolution 39, since which time the State Federation of Labor in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Ohio has entered upon the questioning of candidates for the establishment of the people's sovereignty. Other state federations had previously engaged in the work. Activity for the advisory system in cities is appearing in many of the central labor bodies and should be encouraged."

"The systematic questioning of candidates to which reference has been made is gaining importance each year. More and more our state branches, central bodies and local unions are realizing the system's usefulness. It enables our people to prevent the evasion of issues by party machines, and the self interests of candidates cause them to answer favorably in most cases. And the success of organized labor's political work without engaging in party politics strengthens the union in the sentiment of its members and increases their number. Co-operation is also advanced with other interests, such as organized farmers. In Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Texas the organized farmers, with organized wage earners, are questioning candidates as to the establishment of the people's sovereignty in place of machine rule. This is accomplished without a formal alliance. "We recommend the general use of the questioning of candidates system."
